SIGNAL HILL, Calif. – Bowman Design Group announced the addition of Jake Huttner as senior designer.

Huttner will be responsible for production management and design. His multidisciplinary experience combines a foundation in design with a thorough understanding of the production process, as well as extensive expertise in corporate branding and marketing communications.

A company representative said Huttner's ability to "create smooth workflow between client, designer and contractor will be an asset to the firm's approach, which is based on client collaboration and precise execution."

"Jake's expertise in steering complex projects through design and production ensures that our clients' projects are completed on time and within budget," said Tom Bowman, president of Bowman Design Group.

Huttner was most recently senior art director for InterCommunications. Previously, he was an exhibit designer at Southern California Edison, where he applied his graphic design background to create a variety of communications and environments including tradeshow exhibits, permanent installations, interactive kiosks and special event collateral.
